Welcome to Queen Right Colonies, LTD (QRC) and 2020, this is our 25th Anniversary with 50 years in beekeeping and 5 generations of beekeepers, 3 of which are still on site and working to make your beekeeping experience a good one. We pride ourselves in producing a good quality product at very competitive pricing and the best queens and package bees in the industry. With the above behind us and our informed, friendly, kind staff and sales personnel with us, I am confident your experience at QRC will definitely be a good one.

The face of beekeeping and this industry is always changing, as is the economy and beekeeping equipment. Imports are not only flooding our market but also foreign entities are buying out American-owned bee supply businesses. Here at QRC, we are making a concerted effort to supply only American-made products; it is a work in progress with emphasis on pricing and quality. Many beekeepers are interested only in pricing and not the origins of a product while complaining about importation of poor quality honey and honey products that are allowed to saturate local markets. We are noting in our catalog items made in America with pride and quality in mind. QRC has a very informative blog area on our website with originally written informative material and video demonstrations. For instance, you can find their videos of package bee installation, how to treat a package of bees with Oxalic acid and a beekeeping calendar for the entire year; you may find some tongue and cheek articles as well and more. If what you are looking for or need is not covered in a video or article, shoot us an email about what you would like to see, and we will do our best to add it to our library.

As always if you are in the area, you are invited to attend The Great Lorain County Beekeepers Association Field Day (LCBA), a collaborative effort with QRC held here at QRC. Last year was a great event with over 350 beekeepers in attendance, and we expect even more this year with our speaker, Charles Linder. Charles is presently a commercial beekeeper involved in manufacturing from Illinois with a background in milking cows, farming, agriculture and beekeeper as well. He has the ability to see the land use dilemma and beekeeping conflict from both sides of the isle, see page 3 for more information on Field Day.

A new attraction opening March 2020 is Das Amish House. This antique, novelty shop originally opened in 1997, and we are excited to celebrate the grand reopening with you. It will be stocked with gifts and antiques from yesteryear to present. Additional areas of interest for our customers are the origins of a product while complaining about importation of poor quality honey and honey products that are allowed to saturate local markets. We are noting in our catalog items made in America with pride and quality in mind. QRC has a very informative blog area on our website with originally written informative material and video demonstrations. In this catalog we have included our yearly calendar of beekeeping that we hope you find helpful as has been requested. Teaching classes and educating beekeepers and the public about the art of keeping honey bees is a large part of what we do. We offer private lessons as weather and time permits. If you have questions we can and will help!

Have a great season!

~ Denzil St. Clair
Welcome to the greatest Field Day anywhere! On Field Day there is something for everyone here at Queen Right Colonies, held in conjunction with the Great Lorain County Beekeepers Association, more door prizes, more games, more to see and do than any beekeeping event anywhere. In addition, there are non-beekeeping things to see and do as well such as: Alpaca sheering demo, tours of the farm, visit our mirage of livestock that include Mouflon Sheep, Montjac Deer, Fallow Deer, Zebu Cattle, White Peacocks, Pigmy Goats, Red Fox, various species of birds, more White Homers than anywhere, plus it is all FREE. Tour an authentic Amish starter home, which we have converted into a shop for gifts and antiques. As you can see, this is not just for beekeepers but friends and family as well. The emphasis will always be on beekeeping but everyone is welcome here.

A lot has been stated over time on TV, in the print media, and in beekeeping publications as well about agriculture/farming and its negative impact on the environment and beekeeping. Unfortunately, because those in agriculture/farming are a smaller group and have a limited voice, as a consequence, they are not heard. This year we have Charles Linder as our featured speaker. Charles is a commercial beekeeper, producer of the Bee Bus, the Pro Nuc box, agriculture equipment engineer, and lifelong farmer. He will help shed light on some misconceptions propagated by all those in the media platform. All beekeepers are in agriculture whether you want to be or not, and we should not be closed minded to those we work with.

We also have the honor and pleasure of having the new editor of Bee Culture Magazine, Jerry Hayes making an appearance this year. Jerry Hayes was apiary section chief for the Florida Department of Agriculture and consumer services responsible for the regulatory health of 35,000 colonies. For 25 yrs. Hayes has written a monthly column in ABJ called the classroom. He has written a book by the same name. He is a founding member of the Colony Collapse Working Group, and a science advisory board member for Project Apis Mellifera and Bee Informed Partnership. Jerry is the author of multiple research papers understanding and preserving honeybee health. Jerry will address “Assessing Colony Bee Health Part 1” and “Maintaining Colony Health Part 2” in the bee yard while doing so in open colonies of bees.

We are also fortunate to have Peggy Garnes, OSBA president. Peggy is a beekeeper with 20 yrs. experience keeping 140 colonies, queen breeder and nuc producer, traveling speaker for OSBA and past Western Reserve Representative. Peggy will do an open hive, one hour class on, “How and When to Requeen.”

Another highlight to this year’s event will be the addition of Tim Arheit. Tim is a past president of OSBA and a part of the OSBA traveling speaker program as well as the current web-master of OSBA. Tim will do a one hour, open hive demonstration on the topic of, “What Constitutes a Healthy Colony at Different Times of the Year.”

We always address the current new beekeeper or the beekeeper wishing a refresher class, which is why we will be offering the topics of “All Things New” and “What should I be doing now and for the rest of the beekeeping season.” This class will be taught by John Rose and Phil Bartosh; both of these gentlemen have eight to ten years of experience working with and teaching new beekeepers. Phil is the current Cuyahoga County Bee Inspector. There is something here for everyone new or old, first timer or old timer, come and be with us and enjoy a great summer day with friends and family.

No used gloves or hive tools. Helmets & veils a must for the bee yards.

The Four Seasons of Beekeeping Calendar

It All Begins or Begins Again: March, April, May

MARCH:
1. As always mites, three treatments of OXALIC; 7 to 10 days apart and continue this every other month or alternate with Mite Away II if weather is appropriate for such use.
2. Depending on your level of beekeeping experience and where you want to be will determine what you do at this point. WE LOOSE MORE COLONIES THIS TIME OF YEAR THAN ANY OTHER TIME FRAME THROUGHOUT THE YEAR.
3. Monster colony how to’s – add a pollen substitute and feed a stimulus feeding. A stimulus feeding is a feeding that is not considered a necessary feeding for colony survival, but done so to achieve a desired result, which in this case is to build the colony. Large colonies are desirable for maximum honey production or maximum split potential.
4. Watch the weather and keep an eye on those bees at every opportunity – which means open them up and see what is there.
5. Colonies need a minimum of 3 frames of honey at all times or they go into preservation mode and will not build up adequately for spring – this is where you step in.
6. Honey manipulation or food management is done at this time. Brood fixes the nest and bees cannot randomly wonder about the colony for food at these temperatures, so this time of year on a 60 plus temp day rotate honey from the periphery of colony next to the brood nest.

APRIL:
1. Queen viability and a feeding of Super DFM – a must. Not all races of bee perform the same, know your race of bee and the characteristics of that race and have realistic expectations for spring build-up and brood pattern.
2. Thoroughly inspect colony ASAP and do necessary house cleaning at this time.
3. Do weekly inspections for cups and brood congestion is a must; set up nucs or splits, if desired, or start swarm prevention techniques at this time to maintain large, healthy colonies.
4. Add boxes as needed, where needed, plan for vacations.
5. Expect early swarms and do preventative work; you will hear or see the condition exists.
6. You must manage colonies and frames, both up and down, north and south, east and west. Expand the brood nest incrementally. If weather is nice and colony is strong do more radically to the point of placing honey supers between brood boxes, allow supers to be filled with brood, then place them on top and bring deeps back together as the brood hatches. Do not be afraid to repeat – as needed. Try different things to make colonies happier, less aggressive and easier to work with in the summer heat.
7. Do NOT reverse boxes, this is much too general. Move frames of brood and bees up and empties down, examining each frame for cups. Arrange these frames for maximum brood production throughout the season starting now. This means expand the brood nest by placing empty drawn comb into the middle of the brood nest, followed by eggs and larva lately capped brood on the outside. As the brood hatches on the outside move empties back to the middle, this is done throughout the brood nest as needed.
8. Set out swarm bate traps for poorly managed honey bees and live traps for yellow jackets.
9. There are several honey flows at this time, but they are weather sensitive. Maples, Buckeye, Apples, Cherry, Willow’s, and dandelion.
10. Treat for mites every other month, see mite treatment schedule on page 6 of catalog!

MAY:
1. Colonies that did not overwinter well are now built up and need the same skills as administered to those above.
2. Swarm season will continue at least through June, and may occur anytime during summer.
3. Set up nucs, splits, for next season’s production or to sell, think ahead – always think ahead when working bees, make a junk yard from which the beekeeper may, at any time, retrieve necessary components to repair or build other colonies. Resist the temptation to make a junkyard colony permanent with the exception of trying to overwinter it.
4. Add supers underneath and before they become necessary, watch for queen cups, continue to manage brood nest, expand, expand, and expand again.
5. Spring is here in all its glory, lots in bloom, dandelion, clovers and many minor nectar sources.
6. Treat for mites every other month with Oxalic.
7. Check colonies every 7 to 10 days for cups and brood congestion.
8. Here is a nice trick, try to catch a swarm, and use the swarm’s natural desire to draw foundation for all colonies in your bee yard, nucs packages, weak colonies, honey supers keep the swarm working on new foundation as soon as it is started move it out to where needed, make them work for their keep.

The Buildup Season: June, July, August

JUNE:
1. Use Mite-Away II, before it becomes too hot.
2. Look for queen cups.
3. This is Black Locust season – remember 35 to 50 pounds per colony in the right location and season, know what is in bloom.
5. This is all light honey season, you may want to take it off and keep it separate from fall flow.
6. Super DFM, a must, may be used with supers on.
7. Treat for mites every other month!
8. Check colonies every 7 to 10 days for cups brood congestion etc.

JULY:
1. Clovers, alfalfa are major, lavender and other minor blooms.
2. Prepare to enter the Fair.
3. Keep expanding the brood nest and always super underneath.
4. Lots still in bloom, soybean, alfalfa, thistle, milkweed and many minor floral sources available at this time.
5. Start to pay attention to heat and provide styrofoam as an insulation against heat on tops and sun exposed sides of the colony, bees will be happier, less aggressive and easier to work with in the summer heat.
6. Treat for mites every other month with Oxalic in warm weather.
7. Check colonies every 7 to 10 days for cups and brood congestion, supering.

AUGUST:
1. Late August Goldenrod is a major flow. Take this honey off separately as a premium honey so super accordingly.
2. Possible re-queen, if you can find her.
3. Bees may turn aggressive with the heat and large colonies, give plenty of room and ventilate, ventilate. Use Styrofoam for shade on sunny sides of the hive. If you doubt this works do it on just one colony, the biggest meanest one you have.
4. Watch for yellow jacket problems, set a bate station. Possible robbing, so prepare weak colonies, nucs with smaller entrances and protection before the condition exists.
5. Winter prep starts, have this mind set.
6. Check colonies every 7 to 10 days for cups brood congestion, supering.

The Four Seasons of Beekeeping Calendar

The Winter Prep Season: September, October, November

SEPTEMBER:
1. Aster bloom is major and Smartweed, catnip, Joe-pye weeds last nectar of the season.
2. Start winter prep, watch for colonies that may struggle making it through winter and do what is necessary for this time frame, and make use of the junkyard colony you started in the spring if needed?
3. All honey should be off by the end of the month and winter prep in full swing, mite treatments, queen viability, winter stores consideration, etc.
4. Feed Super DFM, a must.
5. Possible robbing.

OCTOBER:
1. Treat for mites with Oxalic, 3 treatments 7 to 10 days apart or use Mite-Away II as temps start to cool off.
2. Bees are now consuming more than what is coming in, plan ahead. Large colonies with lots of brood and bees can consume lots of honey at this time and run out before winter’s end!
3. Time for serious winter prep, honey off. We recommend insulation -- not just a wrap. Nights are cooler and more honey is needed to maintain brood and heat, ventilation, pollen substitute -- if needed, feeding -- if needed. Ventilate.
4. Super DFM, early in the month -- a must.
5. Pay attention to this one: If colony population is (VERY) high experience possible robbing.

NOVEMBER:
1. Time to start once a month treatments for Varroa, one treatment a month as needed. Dead bees can block an entrance so watch and clean as needed, if used.
2. Oxalic acid can still be used and is most effective this time of year on a day 50 degree plus day.

The Dead Season: December, January, February

DECEMBER:
1. Mite treatment if needed, with Oxalic -- 50 plus degrees. Clean bottom board of dead bees with hook of sorts -- like a cloths hanger, watch entrances for blockage of snow and ice as well.

JANUARY:
1. Mite treatment if needed, with Oxalic -- 50 degrees plus. Clean bottom board of dead bees. Look at bottom board five days after each treatment during winter to determine if mites are still falling, if not skip a month’s treatment.

FEBRUARY:
1. Mite treatment, if needed, possible feeding, if needed of pollen substitute or sugar syrup.
2. Spring management starts here with checking honey reserves and possibly moving frames of honey from periphery of hive close to cluster as weather permits.
3. Late February, feed pollen substitute and stimulus feeding of syrup. Clean bottom board as needed. Watch entrances for blockage. Open colonies as needed weather permitting.

If you have done the above you will have bees in the spring if not, Order Now!

Varroa Mite Treatment Plan

1. New packages should be treated with vaporized Oxalic while in the package, remove queen first. This is accomplished by placing an 10 inch long 2 X 4 with the 2-inch side down on a bottom board, then place package of bees on its side atop this the 2 X 4 in a standard empty deep box with the top in place, treat.
2. Nucs should be treated in the same manner within the first month of purchase – except Mite-Away II should be used or three treatments of vaporized Oxalic, because brood is present.
3. Then a program of vaporized Oxalic should be used every two months. Three treatments each as long as brood is expected to be present. Time your treatments in spring so that one treatment can be done before honey supers are added and the last after honey supers are off if possible.
4. In December, reduce the number of treatments to one treatment a month, not the three consecutive treatments and only when temps are 50 plus.
5. Make an effort to skip or alter treatments every other month by checking bottom board or tray for mites before every treatment. This is accomplished by cleaning the tray one week after each treatment and examining it before each application for any newly fallen Varroa. Skipping treatments should only be done during the winter months.
6. Also time treatment so that it coincides with your weekly inspections, and before colony is put back together leave honey supers off treat the brood nest with the telescoping cover in place. Yes this will miss the bees in the supers as well as any bees in the field at that time, but you still have two more applications to go and any missed bees can more than be made up next application. Also a concerted effort should be made to treat colonies at night when most bees are in the hive.

Doing this will save you money in the long run, and the disappointment of cleaning a dead hive next spring and starting over. This is a prophylactic program, because you have mites so you are better off treating. We do NOT recommend an ether or sugar roll to determine mite counts, because this can and will cause the loss of queens when scooping 300 bees out of a brood nest for the novice is idiocy. Plus ether and sugar rolls are inaccurate, when trying to determine mite counts it is not a science and can accomplish different outcomes with every use and user and resulting in false readings.

Woodenware Available in 8- or 10-Frame

Ohio’s finest milled and cut White Pine and Cypress wood is the beginning of the fine quality of woodenware that we proudly make available to our customers. Adding to this, the special attention to the construction and longevity of our wooden equipment via our exclusive Hot Dipped Paraffin process, makes this a product that gives the beekeeper equipment that will last through many years of beekeeping enjoyment at a very competitive price. It’s easy to find just what you’re looking for as our products are listed according to the choice you are looking for. Woodenware is available three ways; Knocked Down (KD): construction and painting required. Assembled (A): wood assembled with ceramic coated screws for durability and rust resistance and requires a coat of paint. Assembled and Treated (AT): the number one selling product in our woodenware category, this woodenware needs no assembly or wood treatment. Our Hot Dipped Paraffin Process is an exclusive QRC service, the lifetime of wood. For more detailed information on our services see page 12.

Paraffin Treatment

Charges for most (standard) equipment:
- Deep Box w/Frames, Each: 6.00
- Deep Box w/o Frames, Each: 5.00
- Medium Box w/Frames, Each: 5.00
- Medium Box w/o Frames, Each: 4.50
- Inner Cover, Bottom Board, Each: 2.00

We encourage all customers with old or new equipment to have it treated in hot paraffin wax. This applies especially to old equipment where the origin is unknown and disease questions are unresolved. Treating new equipment extends its life and provides the customer with the greatest amount of value for their dollar.

We have personally used this practice in our own bee yard for many years now and find it to be the ultimate plan for all aspects of treating our woodenware. Customer testimonials have always been very positive.

All new equipment at QRC can be ordered treated. If you would like to have old equipment treated please call for an appointment and specific instructions.

QRC offers an exclusive service in the treatment of wood products with hot paraffin wax.

We are not able to treat used equipment during our Package Bee Season: April, May and June.

HOT DIP:

Imitation is the sincerest form of flattery; it’s nice to have a product that others want to duplicate, but do keep in mind we have been doing this for 20 years and have already worked out the bugs, pun intended. There are different melt points of paraffin, which one is right for this application? Some try to put additives into the wax, how does this affect the penetration into the wood and temperature at which the process is accomplished? Some actually attempt to brush paraffin on and that’s just laughable. How hot should the wax be to penetrate the wood? How long should the wood remain in the paraffin in order to achieve the desired result? What is the desired result? Is the temperature hot enough to remove any moisture from the wood? Why is this important? Hot dip done right can be painted over, and what we like to do, is stain over it. It is not necessary to paint or stain but to maintain a desired look over time it is what we recommend.

BEE HEALTH

1619 Pro-Sweet Liquid Feed both nectar-like and honey-like sugar water for your bees. Pro-Sweet does not crystallize or ferment like sugar water. Helps promote fat body bees with a proper diet to sustain them through winter dearth period.

1610 Drone Comb Frame an all natural way to combat the Varroa mite, deep or medium.

1612 Ultra Bee Patties Good nutrition equals healthy hives. Complete amino acid profile. Beneficial vitamins, lipids and minerals, not less than 18% protein.

Super DFM – HoneyBee Direct Fed Microbial supplement of naturally occurring beneficial and viable bacteria for honeybees. Designed to populate bees’ intestines with beneficial bacteria to restore microbial flora. Better digestion means healthier bees. One package treats 10 hives.

Oxalic Acid Vaporizers

No heavy brood boxes to lift, no frames to pry apart. Just insert the vaporizer and treat. Easy, simple & effective!

Vaporization of oxalic acid in beehives is a proven method of killing both Varroa and Tracheal mites. See page 6 for QRC treatment recommendations.

Oxalic acid vapors only kill the mites that are on the bees (phoretic,) not in the brood. With the hive almost broodless in late fall or early winter, that is an excellent time to treat. If the outside temperature is 40°F or above, you can safely vaporize. You want to go into winter with mite-free hives, as the main reasons for winter losses are starvation and mites!

1803 Oxalic Acid also known as Dicarboxylic Acid dissolves easily in water.

1801 VarroCleaner comes with a removable entrance sealer that also serves to keep the vaporizer from overturning in the hive.

1800 VarroVap a glow plug powered vaporizer is powered by a 12 Volt battery.

1802 Varrox Vaporizer if you have more than 10 hives or just want the very best, this is the one for you.

The Sweet Designs Collection

Custom Printed Honey Labels. Choose the style label that’s right for you, and have us custom print your information for you!

Easy to order:

A. Choose a design from our Sweet Designs Collection.

B. Measure the label area on your bottle.

C. Choose a size & label design:
   - Sweet Designs Standard Collection
     - 3” x 2” Oval
     - 2.25” x 1.5” Large Rectangle
     - 1.75” x 1.25” Small Rectangle
   - Sweet Designs Flower Collection
     - 3” x 1.75” Oval
     - 2” x 1.5” Large Rectangle
     - 1.75” x 1.25” Small Rectangle

D. Depending on the size and style of label, we can fit up to four lines of information. Font size and layout will also be a determining factor in design.

E. Place your order by phone. Call 1-440-647-2602, our label department is ready to help you with any questions you have.

F. Once a proof is approved via email, your specially designed labels will be created right here at QRC. All custom orders must be paid in full at time of order. No returns on Custom Labels.

Your beautiful new labels will arrive within 10 to 12 business days if no delays occur. Or pick-up your customized labels at QRC during business hours.

Package Bees

QRC is one of nine Trusted Partners of Olivarez Honey Bees (OHB) for California Premium Package Bees

Another package bee season is already underway and the job of making available the best quality packages is no less significant; as we write articles and prepare advertising for the upcoming season; teams and research studies are ever ongoing, documentation, research and development; nutritional studies, sustainability, organically safe medications, probiotics - all for the health and wellness of the honey bee.

Now, that is quite a mouthful of important information to digest; however, years of research have been dedicated to the need for a honey bee that can withstand an on slot of environmental calamity - simply said, “this is the reason QRC sells OHB packages from Northern California.” The proof is in the pudding they say and year after year our customers agree!

No matter what end of the honey bee industry you dwell in, whether it is in the field, the lab, mating yards, development and research, packaging, queen marking, statistical documentation, nutrition, or transportation, no one person can accomplish all of this. It is a collaborative effort between you, the beekeeper; us, the supplier; and OHB, the producer.

One might think that a family-owned business such as Olivarez Honey Bees makes splits, grafts queens and put packages on trucks, that’s only part of it. We’ve had the opportunity to talk with Ray on many occasions over the last 20 plus years. The depth of involvement to run such a company takes great intelligence and nerves of steel. He credits his dad with teaching him the industry and the devotion it takes to work in an agriculture environment handed down from generation to generation.

We proudly boast of our committed partnership/friendship with OHB as continually having the best bees in the country with which to distribute to the east coast region of the United States.

Our Package Bees are:

- Certified Hive Beetle Free
- DNA Tested to be Africanized Gene Free
- Trademarked, Patented & Certified Saskatraz
- Breeder stock certified by Albert Robertson and Olivarez Honey Bees

Quality, Reliability, and Commitment to our package bee customers is what we strive for yearly, and continuing to offer these bees is a win-win for all.

Please visit www.ohbees.com and watch the videos available. The excitement for several years at QRC is the offering of the Saskatraz packages and queens which have been in developmental stages for the better than a decade, studying ways to circumvent Varroa mites.

Please go to the web site for more information, www.saskatraz.com.

As in previous years we receive a Certificate of Apiary inspection from OHB that is issued by the State of California Department of Food and Agriculture. Certified Hive Beetle Free packages and queens, bred for hygienic tendencies, productivity, honey production and gentleness.

\[\text{Ready-to-Go Packages!} \]

- We offer a 3# package that is a full three pounds of bees; Italian, Carniolan, Saskatraz or Cordovan.
- Each Saskatraz Package includes a document certifying to the authenticity and breeder of the Saskatraz bees.

Bees are transported in a state-of-the-art semi; temperature sensitive and climate controlled environment, insuring the best of accommodations. A 48-hour straight through ride with two of the greatest chauffeurs on the road today!

Notifications are sent out via email as to pickup schedule upon arrival.

We also place notifications of arrival and/or updates on Facebook, Instagram, Twitter and on our website.
CUSTOM PACKAGE INSTALL SERVICE

If you find that your schedule has changed and you know you won’t be available to pick up and install your bees in your equipment, we have a service for that. Our knowledgeable staff will install your bees in your equipment at QRC and then set up appointment time for pickup. Obviously queen acceptance will be the determining factor. Every year we have a lot of requests for this service, life happens and is not always in line with your package bee plans for the season. Call for more information.

CPIS 3 lb. Package Bee Install ................. 25.00

As with our package bees, all of our bees come from Northern California. Queens are already mated, taken off of brood before banking and sent to our customers. We offer New World Carniolan, Three-banded Italian and Cordovan.
